BAKU CEO'S

Timeless luxury meets modern lines.

We designed not only the venue
but also the atmosphere for CEO'S.

We blended luxury with warmth.

The large and symmetrical seating areas you see in this shot were designed not only with aesthetic concerns but also with social flow, guest comfort and spatial depth in mind.

Every detail for an unforgettable experience.

The CEO'S project is a reflection of the aesthetic intelligence, functional thinking and material knowledge that CVK Furniture gives to interior design.

Every line carries a determination, every material carries a story.

Design hidden in the details, felt in the experience.

Our architects approached this area as a quieter, more introverted and sophisticated relaxation corner. Located outside the main axis, this section offers guests a private area and the opportunity to participate in the experience without breaking away from the main space. Thanks to the semi-permeable vertical lines used in the dividing panels, both acoustic and visual privacy were achieved.

CVK Furniture production team measured all furniture and panel systems specifically for this project. Every process, from material selection to assembly details, was implemented under the one-on-one control of our project architects. Our understanding of on-time delivery and flawless implementation also showed itself in this project.

Original
furniture

solutions specific to the character of the space.

All furniture developed for this space was designed and produced specifically for the project, beyond standard product lines. Every element, from fabric selections to metal details, from wood textures to color scale, was determined as a result of coordinated work carried out with architects and interior designers.

Design became integrated with volume, furniture with architecture.

It is an original seating area bearing the signature of CVK Furniture. The project was carried out as a turnkey project-based application that included not only furniture supply but also design, implementation and architectural integration processes.

Form, function and architecture all together.

While the wooden panels used on the wall surface add warmth to the space with natural textures, modern wall art integrated with LED lighting creates both architectural and decorative effects.

Aesthetics and function meet on the same line.

Bar Area The bar, positioned in the center, was designed as the architectural focal point of the space. The vertical wooden lamellas on the upper part both define the space and provide a visual rhythm from the ceiling to the floor. The functional shelf systems and warm stone texture in the background of the bar offer both aesthetics and functionality.

The custom-made billiards table positioned in the center of the restaurant was designed to be not only a gaming element but also the focal point of the space.

Noir et Miel

A sophisticated restaurant design where elegance meets black and warmth meets honey.

The restaurant's architectural approach was based on environmental data and user psychology.

Noir et Miel: The perfect balance of contrasts.

A special work that combines comfort with a magnificent design language, where elegance turns into space.

A sophisticated experience in every detail.

High ceilings, rhythmic columns and arched wall forms give the space an architectural grandeur; fluidity and user comfort are prioritized thanks to the open plan layout.

High ceilings, rhythmic columns and arched wall forms give the space an architectural grandeur; fluidity and user comfort are prioritized thanks to the open plan layout.

We told the story of the space through design.

The main wall of the space was designed to create a layered design with natural wood, anthracite panel details and live plants.
